ABOUT ME

Over the last five years, I've used my background in performing and makeup artistry, combined with my expertise in Social Media Strategy, to help brands and entrepreneurs build their empire online. My personal brand is beauty and lifestyle based. I share honest reviews, DIY projects, and simple tutorials with my audience.

I specialize in short form videos on TikTok, honest YouTube reviews and lifestyle content for Instagram. I noticed my audience was tired of seeing the typical 'influencer' lifestyle photos so I aim to create relatable, real life tips and advice that 20 something women can identify with. I am passionate about mental health, beauty, self care, and travel. Currently, I live in Dallas, TX with my dog Hiro. I have been featured in the Dallas Observer, The New York Times, Insider, and The Outline for my content on TikTok.

About My Content

I have a passion for empowering and inspiring women to be their authentic self online. My brand is the 'hot mess' 20 something who shares the good and the bad about life as an influencer. My candid reviews, raw and authentic lifestyle content, DIY projects, and TikTok tutorials are what I'm best known for on TikTok. My goal is to show women that they don't have to have the 'perfect' looking life to be happy. It's okay for life to be messy and crazy, as long as you're having fun doing something you love and learn to love yourself.
